Phenomenology: Temporality, Embodiment & Technical Orientation

Monsoon 2025 – 2026 | Undergraduate | Ashoka University

Course description

An introduction to the phenomenological tradition and its contemporary transformations. Tracing the analysis of lived time, bodily orientation, and worldhood from Edmund Husserl, Martin Heidegger, and Maurice Merleau-Ponty to Sara Ahmed, Frantz Fanon, and Bernard Stiegler, we ask how technical objects and historical habits shape perception and temporality.

Seminar schedule

WK 01 - Intentionality & Internal Time-Consciousness

- Edmund Husserl (1905), On the Phenomenology of the Consciousness of Internal Time (Primary vs. Secondary Retention)

WK 02 - Being-in-the-World, Tool-Being & Readiness-to-Hand

- Martin Heidegger (1927), Being and Time, Division I, Ch. 3 (Worldhood of the World)

WK 03 - The Lived Body, Habit & Corporeal Schema

- Maurice Merleau-Ponty (1945), Phenomenology of Perception (The Body as Expression and Speech)

WK 04 - Phenomenology of Orientation & Collective Horizons

- Sara Ahmed (2006), Queer Phenomenology: Orientations, Objects, Others

PROTOTYPE - DUMMY DATA - STAGING PREVIEW